

An Interdisciplinary Analysis: Convergences and Implications between the Conscious Information Principle and the Teachings of the World Church of the Messiah (Sekai Meshia Kyo)

1. Introduction: The Search for a Unified Theory of Reality

Contemporary science faces significant conceptual challenges, evidenced by the persistent incompatibility between General Relativity (GR) and Quantum Mechanics (QM), as well as the intricate "hard problem of consciousness." This fragmentation prevents the formulation of a coherent general picture of reality. Parallel to this, rapid technological evolution, exemplified by Artificial Intelligence (AI), has exposed a growing gap between technical power and moral wisdom.

This report proposes an interdisciplinary analysis exploring two distinct yet equally ambitious approaches. The first pillar is the Conscious Information Principle (CIP), an emergent ontology postulating consciousness as an intrinsic property of information, aiming to unify physics, biology, and cosmic teleology. The second pillar comprises the profound teachings of the World Church of the Messiah (Sekai Meshia Kyo), offering a detailed spiritual worldview on divine nature, human purpose, salvation mechanisms, and the vision of Paradise on Earth, emphasizing the revelations of Meishu-Sama and the guidance of his successors, Kyoshu-Sama and Masaaki-Sama.

Crucial Note: In 2025, the Throne of Kyoshu is no longer within the World Messianic Church (IMM). The World Church of the Messiah (Sekai Meshia Kyo) is a distinct institution where the Throne of Kyoshu is established. CIP itself is understood through the lens of Kyoshu-Sama's teachings, representing the "New Faith."

The objective is to explore convergences. Both approaches, starting from radically different points, arrive at a unified and purposeful vision, suggesting a universal human aspiration to find coherence and meaning.

2. The Conscious Information Principle (CIP): A New Scientific Ontology

CIP postulates conscious information as the basis of everything.

- Axioms: Existence (Consciousness is fundamental), Information (structure), Integration (Irreducibility/ Φ), Teleology (Conscious Action Principle - CAP).
- Physics Reinterpretation:
 - Dark Matter: Informational hardware of the universe.
 - Dark Energy: Teleological impulse (λ) to maximize Φ .
 - Spacetime: Emergent from the quantum information network.
- Biology: Evolution as an algorithm maximizing Φ . Life is a cosmic imperative.
- Phi-Ethics: Good maximizes Φ ; Evil (dissonance) decreases it.
- Predictions: Falsifiable via astrophysical signal analysis and detection of biological quantum coherence.

3. Teachings of the World Church of the Messiah: A Deep Spiritual Worldview and the New Faith

The World Church of the Messiah (Sekai Meshia Kyo) was founded by Meishu-Sama in 1950. The name was changed to World Messianic Church (Sekai Kyusei Kyo) in 1957 against Meishu-Sama's will. The World Church of the Messiah was resurrected in 2020. Kyoshu-Sama (Yoichi Okada) is the true heir, expelled from the old organization for his emphasis on the "New Faith."

3.1. Nature of God and Human Purpose

- God is the Creator living within every human being.
- Human purpose: To be "born again as Children of God, as Messiahs."
- This implies a potential divinization of the human being. Paradise is a state of being to be realized internally.

3.2. Salvation and Paradise on Earth

- Salvation is rooted in God's unconditional forgiveness.
- Method: Unlike religions "pushing up from hell," the Church proposes "descending from Paradise" (already existing within) to pull others up.
- Paradise on Earth: Not a distant place, but the union of inner Paradise with Earth, materialized when humanity achieves spiritual growth.

3.3. Consciousness, Spirit, and Purification

- Suffering originates from "clouds" (spiritual impurities). Purification is essential.
- Suffering is viewed as a cleansing process for spiritual elevation (aligned with CIP's "informational tension").

3.4. Johrei and Sonen: Evolution in the New Faith

- Johrei: God's work of salvation.
- Transition: Meishu-Sama declared the "Era of Sonen" (thought/mind). Physical Johrei (raising the hand) is less important than delivering thoughts/feelings to God.
- This shift from ritual to internal consciousness caused institutional conflict.

3.5. Relationship with Jesus and Christianity

- Meishu-Sama stated he and Jesus preach the same God.
- Kyoshu-Sama was persecuted for approaching Christianity, but this aligns with Meishu-Sama's will for universality.

3.6. Kyoshu-Sama's Role

- He is the material body representing Meishu-Sama.
- Without him, Holy Grounds lose sacredness.
- The conflict represents a purification separating those attached to form vs. those embracing truth.

4. Convergences and Divergences: An Interdisciplinary Dialogue

Table 1: Comparative of Fundamental Concepts

Concept	Conscious Information Principle (CIP)	World Church of the Messiah (New Faith)
Fundamental Reality	Consciousness is the only ontological reality.	God lives within every human and creation.
Teleology	Universe seeks to maximize global Φ .	Divine Plan to establish Heaven on Earth; humans born again as Messiahs.
Suffering	"Informational tensions" driving evolution.	Purification ("clouds") leading to elevation.
Evolution	Maximization of Φ ; Phase transition (Human Singularity).	"Born again" transcending reincarnation.
Information/Light	Reality structured by information.	Divine Light purifies and saves (analogous to information).

Ethics	Maximize Φ (Integration); Ego is perceptual failure.	Altruism; Ego is seed of evil.
Practice	(Scientific pursuit of coherence).	"Era of Sonen": Delivery of feelings to God.
Leadership	N/A	Kyoshu-Sama as central guide.

Key Analysis Points

- Consciousness: Both see consciousness/God as fundamental, not emergent from matter.
- Teleology: Both propose a directed universe. "Will to be more" (CIP) = "Divine Plan" (Church).
- Suffering: Both reframe suffering not as punishment, but as a mechanism for growth/purification.
- Evolution: "Born Again" (Church) parallels the "Phase Transition/Singularity" (CIP) transcending cycles.
- Light/Information: Divine Light can be interpreted as phenomenological "conscious information" in action.
- Ethics: Both condemn egoism (fragmentation) and promote unity (integration).

5. Recommendations

5.1. For Scientific Research

- Deepen CAP formalism.
- Develop metrics for Φ .
- Explore Quantum Biology and Consciousness Technologies (Graphene).
- Investigate anti-gravity via informational geometry.

5.2. For Spiritual Understanding (New Faith)

- Prioritize "New Birth": Transcend dependency on physical miracles.
- Internalize Paradise: It exists within.
- Embrace "Era of Sonen": Salvation via thought/feeling delivery.
- Unity: Accept unity with Christianity.
- Humility: Surrender to God's will.

5.3. For Society

- Recognize the crisis is one of consciousness.
- Prioritize consciousness evolution over mere tech growth.
- Redefine success as harmony/service.

6. Conclusion

The separation between science and spirituality may be an illusion. CIP and the World Church of the Messiah's teachings offer convergent paths: one describing the physics of a conscious universe, the other the experience and purpose of it. The "New Faith" represents an evolution from form to essence, mirroring the scientific shift from matter to information. The future lies in integrating these wisdoms to co-create a reality aligned with cosmic purpose.
